

WE WON THE BELL — That's what this group of Rockdale youngsters kept saying to themselves Friday night after the gun sounded the end of the 21-0 victory over arch Cameron. It was the first Bell victory and first Rockdale win since 1938. The bell was instituted by the Rockdale Sandow Railroad, which operates on the Alcoa Plant site.

Cameron To Host 200 Trailriders For Third 'Ride'

Cameron Saddle Club members will host a raft of trailriders Saturday night, October 3, at a stew prior to starting the annual ride to Waco and the Heart O' Texas Fair.

President Charles McDermott said the trailride will begin 6 a.m. Sunday, October 4 in Cameron for several hundred Central Texas riders.

This year there will be a downtown parade of the trailride units the afternoon before departure, McDermott said.

Campsite in Cameron will be Wilson-Ledbetter Park the night of October 3.

He said that the annual event will take the horsemen to Lott the first night out, then from Lott to Jess Radle's farm on the Brazos, south of Waco, for the second night out. The third morning the group will arrive in Waco for the parade opening the Heart O' Texas Fair.

Cameron will be host city and starting point for the annual trailride, McDermott and Dr. Lyle McDermott are among the group heading up the trailride committee. Jess Radle is trail boss.

Gatesville, Meridian and Hillsboro were considered as starting points for the event, but the committee again chose this city.

Radle said "the Cameron folks have been wonderful hosts and the plan for spending the first night at Lott also works out well."

The 200 plus trailriders will attend a barbecue at Radle's farm.

FIRST PLACE — Nancy Baggett, of Route 3 Rockdale proudly displays the first place ribbon she won with her Sears gilt in the Sears show at Waco. Johnnie Ray Richter of Cameron won the Sears boar division.

Sewer Extension Assured 11th St.

Cameron's City Council approved the $254,211.28 budget in a final reading Tuesday night and assured a delegation of E. 11th St. residents of continued sewerline extension in the new fiscal year.

Only minor changes were noted by Mayor Bassel Wilson in the city's largest budget in history, about $10,000 more for basic service and budgeted items including a second garbage truck, a new police car already bought, $6,000 toward a new fire truck, and funds for a city grader.

Councilmen assured four E. 11th St. residents by resolution that an additional $3,000 would be available to extend the main north-east Cameron sewerline beyond 11th St. Crossing.

The city has budgeted $2,500 for extension of the 48-inch line from Eighth St. to Tenth St. in the new schedule. The additional leg would complete the key sewerline service.

Milton J. Schiller, spokesman for the group, said that residents along 11th Street would then be able to pave their street as was accomplished on E. 10th St. a few weeks ago. He is president of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce and a former councilman.

Appearing in the delegation also were Alvin Meyer, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tag, all residents along 11th St.

Wilson assured the group and all Cameronites that the city was interested in continuing its city paving program now underway on North Jackson and E. Sixth St. The 48-inch waterline is being extended from Sixth to Eighth at present.

A second delegation of citizens was on hand to hear Fire Marshal recommend that blanket permits be issued by the city under state law to allow repair of butane trucks in Cameron.

But the council voted to grant permits only to garages specified by butane truck owners for repair of vehicles in city limits.

The decision followed complaints voiced by Cameron citizens in Austin and Cameron concerning the parking of butane trucks in Cameron overnight near residential buildings.

Mayor Bassel Wilson said a state Railroad Commission official was in Cameron recently and met with Eanes about state laws controlling butane vehicle operations.

City Atty. Jack Prescott read excerpts from the state law which prohibits parking butane trucks overnight on city streets, near utility lines or closer than 50 feet to any building except property owned by the butane firm.

Robert Wells, Central Butane Co. operator, assured councilmen that his company would comply with the law as outlined by state regulations.

In other action, the council:

VOTED to ask for an extension from the State Water Board on a permit to heighten the Little River Dam, pending final decision on whether or not dredging of the river and strengthening the dam will meet future water storage needs.

APPROVED payment of a budgeted $2,000 to City Atty. Prescott for recodifying the city ordinance and city law structure during the past year. He said the final draft starts next week.

ASKED that the existing law be modified to charge cab operators $50 per vehicle per year for operating franchise. Last year's total of $132.32 was paid the city for taxi franchises. The 1959 statute calls for a 2 percent on cab company gross receipts.

Yoe To Invade Brenham Friday

The Cameron Yoemen will collide with awesome Brenham Friday night, fielding a changed backfield and more power in the line.

Rated fourth in State AAA, Brenham will host the invading Yoemen on their homefield. Kick-off time is 8 p.m.

Coach Jim Speer will send a new-look backfield into the fray that features emphasis on speed and a return of two backs. Ed Lierman and Carrol Fikes, to positions they played in 1958.

The shift started with moving Bayer from fullback to right tackle a position he played as a freshman last season.

Lierman will move to fullback and Fikes will return to his left-half slot from quarterback. Filling the quarterback spot on offense will be sophomore Jimmy Woodum. Cris Gay will start at right half. Bayer's addition to the line will put leftmen in every forward wall position, Speer said. It will raise the weight average to about 175 pounds in the Yoe line. Bayer weighs 193.

The Brenham Cubs will start their second game of the season with an all-state halfback, Jim Linnstaeder, leading vaunted "jitterbug wing" offense.

Valter White To Head Drive For Seal Sales

Valter White, Maysfield, and the Rev. Ben Skyles, Rockdale, this week were named chairman and co-chairman respectively of the Milam Christmas Seal Sales.

Their election came at a meeting of the Milam Tuberculosis Association Monday night at the offices of the Rockdale Chamber of Commerce.

President Harry Wayne Clark, said that the Seal drive will begin in mid-November. He urged that committee members attend the November meeting in Rockdale to prepare Christmas seals for mailing.

Mrs. E. O. Smith, Jr. reported on the meeting of the Texas Tuberculosis Association held in July. She said that the Milam County group was considered one of the most efficient organizations represented at the state meeting.

Ben Wolf, Rockdale, noted the co-operation of the Rockdale Lions Club has been assured to provide eyeglasses for some needy patients in the TB hospitals.

Clark also noted that publicity is being released through press and radio on the dangers, treatment and cure of TB in conjunction with the national program.

He also read a letter of appreciation from Clois Green, past Milam TB Association president, for a gift presented him by the group before moving to Pittsburgh, Penn.

Linnstaeder and 217-pound fullback Fox are the offensive guns for the Cubs, Speer said. Both make offense click. They defeated A & M Consolidated last week, 43-6.

In the Yoe line Speer named the following starters: Barkmeyer at center, Bayer and Koranek at Tackle, Humplik and Griffin Barrett at guards, Fontaine and Brashear or Griswold at ends.

The Yoe team will average about 170 pounds, about the same weight as the Cubs.

Speer said the Yoemen have been working on strong defensive measures to slow the wide open Brenham aerial and ground game.

His lineup changes followed YHS scoreless losses with Rockdale and West in the past two Yoe outings.

In other grid activity, the Yoe-man B team hosts the Brenham Bees 7:30 p.m. tonight at Yoe Field while the Yoe C team goes to Rockdale to play a postponed C-team contest. Both teams are playing their first games of the season.

Institute Hears Jim Knight, Alcoa

Alcoa's Jim Knight was featured speaker before about 100 district delegates to a meeting of the Federation Women's Club at the Cameron First Methodist Church.

He was preceded by Mayor Bassel Wilson who welcomed the visitors to the annual institute, held for the first time in Cameron.

Featured speakers were Mrs. Farley Sanford, District 4, President, El Campo; Mrs. Jud Collier, past president, Mumfords; and Mrs. Carroll Green, Delphian Club president, who was mistress of ceremonies at the luncheon.

The one-day meeting was held in First Methodist Recreation Center.

St. Anthony's Adds Extra Classrooms To Meet Growth

St. Anthony's parochial school has added a temporary 22 by 35-foot frame wing to its present structure to meet needs for additional classroom space, according to the Rev. Alfred Kallus, assistant pastor of St. Monica's Catholic Church.

Rev. Kallus said the school had obtained a portion of the now vacant Ad Hall School building which will be used for the next year or two.

He said that plans include an addition of about two classrooms, library and restrooms to the present brick structure in another year.

Enrollment at St. Anthony's climbed to 180 students this fall, a gain of about 10 more students over the previous year.

First and second grades were put in separate classrooms with the addition, Rev. Kallus said.

School Offers Site For Playground

The Cameron School Board Thursday night tendered the use of the Old Milam Institute Grounds to the city for use as a playground.

Cameron city officials have budgeted money for a baseball diamond and field lights, considered using the Institute grounds about two years ago for a public baseball diamond and playground.

School officials stipulated that the city would have control of the use of the tract for a playground, but it would be subject to return to school control if the system needs it for future expansion.

Copy of the resolution was sent to Mayor Bassel Wilson. It is also noted the city would receive two years notice if the school wished to use the property for future school purposes.

In other action the board employed Leonard Baldwin as janitor and Jim Edwards as bus driver. Ted Matula resigned the driving post.

The panel also employed Jack Prescott to collect delinquent taxes for schools being called for by letter to delinquent taxpayers.

Approved also was Vocational Ag instructor Pat Kelly's request for permission to give adult education programs in his department next year if the O. J. Thomas instructor would have opportunity to present similar training to Negro adults.

Board members were to inspect the interior wall of an Ada Henderson classroom which had some loose cement blocks.

And in final action the board voted to buy a $10,000 treasury note redeemable May 14, 1964 at 4 and 3/4 percent.

The resignation of Juanita Wieler English instructor was also accepted. An English teacher's position remains unfilled at Yoe High School.

Roman Lehnert has purchased the Chamberlain Drug store from Ollie Chamberlain.

Lehnert was born and lived most of his life in Cameron. He spent a tour of duty in the Air Force. Last year he was employed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Maryland.

SAFELY BACK TO SCHOOL

Well, it's September and school bells are ringing again. It's a good time of year to remind ourselves to be even more cautious in our driving—especially until we get accustomed again to "school stops" and small-fry pedestrians.

Here at the Telephone Company, we've always stressed safe driving—"Safety Consciousness" as well as care and skill handling our cars and trucks. Telephone men here in Cameron deserve much credit. Year in and year out, they drive thousands of "safe" miles.

Everyone can help to make Cameron streets safe for our children, and remember the life you save may be your own.

Pick The Room — Then Pick The Color

The other day, I was reading over a study made by the telephone company which showed that the kitchen and bedroom were the most popular locations for extension telephones.

It doesn't surprise me because a good number of our customers here in Cameron have ordered telephones for those particular rooms in their homes.

But perhaps you'd like additional phones in other rooms — the workshop, maybe, or the family room. All you have to do is pick the room where you want an extension, and then call the business office at 244.

We'll be happy to help you select the color that fits the room. And you'll be happy, too, because a color extension brightens your home and helps you get more out of life.

THE OLD "COLLEGE TRY"

In the coming months, Saturday afternoons on college campuses will mean lively football games with teams giving it the old "college try."

But Sunday afternoon—minus the excitement of the winning touchdown — can be lonely for sons or daughters away at college.

There's a easy remedy for this, however. Just ask them to make the old "college try" at remembering to call you collect every other Sunday.

Who knows? They may even surprise you some Sunday by paying for the call themselves with the dollar or two they've saved from allowance or an extra job they've picked up at college.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Here's Some Facts About Egg Growing, Profit Analysis

College Station — Do you know factors to consider in analyzing your commercial egg producing operation? To be really successful a poultryman needs to be a skillful "money husbandman" as well as a skillful poultry husbandman. In order to be a good money husbandman you should analyze the following two points.

First you should analyze the business to determine the wage or salary earned. This is called labor management income and is that income above interest, depreciation on facilities, and out-of-pocket expense.

The other point of analysis is to determine the income received for being an investor or owning the property. This item is often neglected. Money invested in commercial egg production is worth "money" and should earn its fair return as an investment.

To help poultrymen analyze their Ben C. Wormell, extension poultry farm management specialist, and husbandman, have written a leaflet entitled, "Guide for Analyzing Commercial Egg Flock." Your local county agent has a copy and can help you analyze your particular operation.

By using the outline in the guide, with his particular situation, a basis is provided for measuring a poultryman's specific opportunity for earnings and planning for improvement.

Cotton Harvesting Resumes Fast Pace With Drier Weather

Cotton harvesting got off to a slow start last week due to showers and heavy dew, but farmers made up for this lost time during the latter part of the week.

Based on a 15,000 bale estimate, we are approaching the half-way mark in harvesting the 1959 crop. Good reports continue to come in concerning crop yields and the county will likely surpass the 15,000 bale estimate.

Willie Glaser, one of our good farmers of the Buckholts community, said this week that he has made one of the best cotton crops this year since he has been farming. Glaser has already harvested 120 bales from 200 acres of cotton and plans to get some 5 to 10 bales more. He is already through harvesting corn and maize, has all of this land plowed, is almost through with his cotton harvest with nearly all of the cotton land plowed. Glaser bought a cotton stripper this year and his farming operation is fairly well mechanized.

Corn harvest is 85 to 90 percent complete in the county. Most of the corn remaining in the fields is confined to small acreages that will be hand harvested.

A small acreage of good quality sweet potatoes started moving on the local markets this week. Sweet potato acreage is much too low for Milam county. Net returns on sweet potatoes will compare very favorably with other crops grown in the county.

The first U. S. destroyer developed only 1,600 h.p. while destroyer leaders of today like the USS Willis A. Lee develop 60,000 h.p.

MILAM COUNTY'S Farm Scene

Good Defoliation For Better Harvest

College Station — The success or failure of mechanical harvesting of cotton is dependent upon the defoliation job. Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton work specialist, says a good job of defoliation in favorable weather enables a producer to harvest just as high quality cotton as by hand pulling.

Arsenic acid and penta are the common used defoliant and both have their advantages and limitations. Arsenic acid is applied at the rate of 1 1/2 to 2 quarts per acre mixed in about 8 gallons of water. This material is toxic to man and animal and is very corrosive.

For these reasons, precautions must be taken to protect the applicators and the equipment. Cost of this material runs about $1.75 per acre.

The recommended rate for penta is 2 quarts in 7 to 8 gallons of diesel or kerosene per acre. It is non-poisonous and has no corrosive action.

However, Elliott adds, it caustic and may cause burning around the nose, ears and lips of the operator. Since it is mixed with diesel or kerosene, the cost goes up to about $3.00 per acre. The addition of 2,4-D to the defoliant aids in the control of regrowth, in the event of rain between defoliation and harvest. The addition of one pint of 2,4-D per acre costs about $75.

It is good only to control regrowth, and should not be used when the seed will be saved for planting purposes. Those who do use 2,4-D should do so only if they are thoroughly familiar with the material. Once 2,4-D is used in a machine, cautions Elliott, it cannot be washed out.

NO BIG INVESTMENT

Recent studies in Central Texas show that when a farmer does not have to make a considerable investment in feeding facilities (water system, pens, etc.) a $30 per head profit might be expected when yearling steers are fed 120 to 130 days. C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist, says that the steers used in the tests were fed silage, cottonseed meal and ground milo.

COMPARE PASTURE COSTS

Whether profits can be made from small grains for winter pasture can be determined by comparing the cost of establishing the pasture with the value of the product derived from it. This product may be beef, milk, hay or silage.

Say It With Flowers By Glass

After 27 years in the wholesale and retail business, there is little doubt that "when you say it with flowers in Cameron and Rosebud, Glass the Florist says it best." In fact two generations of Glass, the Florists, make floral service and selection a pleasure and delight regardless of the occasion.

Donald Glass points out that

Greenhouse Fresh

He emphasizes that flowers by Glass are greenhouse fresh to their customers. Glass, the Florist grows most of their flowers in their own local greenhouses.

Freshly picked, the flowers are beautifully arranged by the skilled floral decorators at Glass the Florist. And they are delivered in fast efficient manner by one of five trucks working in Cameron and a truck in Rosebud, he points out.

"We consider the floral occasion in recommending types of flowers and their arrangements to our customers. We strive for the personal touch that flowers convey when they are given as a gift or special remembrance."

Glass's floral arrangements for funerals are done with dignity and grace befitting the need, Glass says. And equal care is devoted to flower and scenic arrangements for weddings and parties.

Planting Time Arrives For Winter Legume Crops

The time has arrived for planting winter legume cover crops. Early planting of legumes result in larger yields. There is an added benefit in having the land covered during the winter months. This cover helps to prevent erosion and packing of the soil from the winter rains.

The large yields that usually result from early planting give more organic matter to be returned to the soil in time to plant the next crop. Deep rooted legumes such as hubam clover do a much better job of opening up the soil and should be planted in preference to shallow rooted legumes such as vetch and winter peas, when the following crop is cotton or a late planted crop.

Emory Holder, a cooperator with the Taylor Soil Conservation District in the Ellison Ridge community, about 3½ miles North of Thorndale, made 60.6 bushels of corn following hubam clover that was allowed to grow to maturity last year.

His entire corn crop averaged approximately 45 bushels per acre. Past records indicate that an increase in crop yields following legumes has averaged about 35 per cent.

The ASC pays about 50 per cent of the cost of legume seed and the fertilizer that it allows to go with the seed. As an example, the ASC payment on a 100 pound sack of 10-20-10 fertilizer is $2.70.

Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service have checked the returns of soil samples sent in by District cooperator for several years and have found that the sandy land usually needed 300 pounds of 10-20-10 fertilizer and that the black land needed approximately 300 pounds of 10-20-10 for such crops as maize and small grain. Legumes do not need as much nitrogen as non-legume crops.

They add nitrogen to the soil when they decompose. They also add organic matter that makes the soil work better. The organic matter increases the water and fertilizer holding capacity of the soil. The nitrogen added in commercial fertilizer can be used to an advantage since residue from weeds, grass or crops require nitrogen for decomposition.

If large quantities of residue are turned under the bacteria in the soil will compete with the legumes for the available nitrogen in the soil. Unless nitrogen is added to the soil, legumes are usually slow to start growing. They must develop a root system before they start making nitrogen.

The presence of nitrogen in the soil gives them a quick start. Phosphate is needed in most cases and should be applied for root development. Phosphorus is another element that is sometimes needed.

If no fertilizer has been applied to a field or if fertilizer has been applied for several years, the only way to know what kind of fertilizer to use and how much is to have a soils analysis made.

Which Has More: Pasture, Grain?

College Station Abundant green grazing during the winter months can reduce feed costs, but small rains are not always the answer. Farmers should try to determine the returns from winter pastures before deciding how much acreage they will plant. Often pastures of oats or small grain mixtures may be leased to livestock producers.

Whether or not profits are to be made can be determined by comparing the cost of establishing the grain pasture with the value of the product derived from it. C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist gives some tips on making the decision.

First, determine the usual grazing period expected. If pastures can be leased for a monthly grazing charge per head, then a careful estimate of carrying capacity will indicate your possible returns. Proper grazing management is essential for obtaining maximum growth.

Plan to stock the pasture so that good vitality is maintained. In some Central Texas counties last year, farmers contracted to furnish grazing for about 15 cents per pound of gain made by the steers. Usual gains averaged about 1½ pounds daily around Marlin.

Where three acres would run one steer, and the oats were "grazed out" from December 1 to June 1, returns of $14 per acre were received. Bates says that if a farmer uses his own steers on his oats pasture, rather than lease out the grazing, the gain would return about $22 per acre if valued at 24 cents per pound.

Another way to estimate the value of oats pasture is to figure the value of air dry forage produced. In the Central Blacklands, research indicates that about 1½ tons per acre may be obtained from oats on upland. Bottomland yields are about one-third higher.

The steers normally utilize about 65 per cent of the forage produced which means a loss of around one-half ton from trampling and waste. With one ton being effectively used the value of hay saved by grazing can be determined. Succulent oats are high in protein so the forage compares well with alfalfa. The usual wintertime price of alfalfa runs about $35 per ton depending on locality.

An example of figuring costs and returns is set up as follows. Expected costs for establishing each acre of a three acre oat pasture: tractor use (breeding land, fertilizing and drilling) 2½ hours at $1.50 per hour $3.75; fertilizer-160 pounds of 10-20-10-$7.20; seed 2½ bushels at $.90-$2.25; giving a total cost of $13.20 per acre. The three acres will produce an estimated 270 pounds of beef over the six months period from December 1 to June 1. Figured at 24 cents per pound the 270 pounds of gain will have a total value of $64.80. On an acre basis, this gain will be worth $21.60. Subtracting the cost of $13.20 per acre leaves

County Agent Byline:

Automatic Brain Boosts Farm Econ

By J. D. Moore, County Agent
Plans of operation by a mechanical brain is a new method to deal with economics and economic factors and is getting more important as agriculture gets more complex. Farmers are asking more questions about economics now than ever before, says Cecil Parker, Extension Farm Manager Specialist. And here is one that county agents have to answer nearly every day...How can I organize my farm so I can get the most profit from it?

This kind of question deals in an area where all the information is mixed up in complicated mathematics, Parker explains, and most farmers are not used to doing this kind of work.

Parker says the latest device for helping farmers figure out the best organization for their farms is an electronic computer. The only catch to it is they cost too much to own and operate.

Linear Programming

The technique used in computer planning is linear programming. It divides limited resources among many enterprises. Out of all the possible plans, linear programming selects the one plan that indicates the highest profit.

A farmer may want to specify certain enterprises. If he does, then the computer will be restricted to combining only the ones he chooses.

"Linear Programming," a new idea in agriculture, is being done in Falls County. It is a new technique that is used to allocate enterprises and select the one plan out of several that will show maximum profits for the farm. This calls for a lot of figures, and a machine, an electronic computer, does the actual figuring.

Analyze Operation

In order to be a successful poultryman, you should analyze your operation to determine the wage or salary earned and also to determine the income you receive for being an investor or owning the property. To help poultrymen analyze their operation, Tom E. Prater, extension farm management specialist, and Ben C. Wormeli, extension poultry husbandman, have written a leaflet entitled, "Guide for Analyzing a Commercial Egg Flock."

Winds in a hurricane seldom go over 150 mph, according to data compiled by the Navy's Hurricane Hunters. Average hurricane winds are 120 mph in the inner areas, tapering off to 40 mph on the outer edge of the storm.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is currently using this program with Bernhard Neumann, Jr. of the Mooreville Community in Falls County. This is the first farm on which the method has been carried out by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Cecil Parker, Extension Farm Management Specialist, did a great deal of preliminary work with Neumann before he used the electronic computer. He and other Extension workers from the Agricultural Economics Department, Texas A & M College and the local County Agent and Carl Spelce, Falls County F. H. A. Supervisor, visited with Neumann to get basic information.

16 Enterprises Tested
Sixteen different enterprises were considered by Neumann and Parker to be used for next year's farming operations. Parker took the best combination and use of the various crops.

Some of the enterprises of crops that were figured are cotton, wheat grain sorghum, oats, and clover for harvest, cow-slaughter calf, stocker steers and sow-slaughter hogs. Of course, this is only a few of the crops or crop combinations that were "fed" into the electronic machine.

This machine is too expensive for an individual farmer or a group of farmers to own and operate. But it is possible that the service of one of these machines may be available for their use through the Texas A & M College System, in the near future. Milam county farm leaders are invited to hear the program explained and how it will operate at 7:30 p.m. today at the Mooreville Community Center at Mooreville, Cecil Parker, extension farm Management Specialist and other members of the A & M Agricultural Economics staff will explain the entire program. Refreshments will be served.

J. D. Moore, County Agent, Robert Hoermann, Ass't County Supervisor will attend the meeting. Farm leaders and interested farmers are invited to attend.

Efforts will be made at the meeting to set up this type of meeting for Milam county farmers and stockmen.

Nikita's Calling Card

Man finally hit the moon with a missile.
It was scientifically historic and politically dangerous.

The world knows by now it was a Russian rocket that made the 230,000-mile journey with symbols of Communist Russia now scattered on some pocketed landscape of the earth's moon.

Timing was perfect for the heralded Khrushchev-Eisenhower meetings this week. It is a Soviet-impressed world that looks on the conference in the United States.

Observers labeled the moon-rocket Nikita's calling card. By any measure of effective propaganda, it is that. For Khrushchev has the psychological edge he likes to have when he talks with high-level Western leaders.

He knows that a pace-setter has the advantage in any competition. The United States, geared to impress the Soviet dictator with its industrial prowess and high standard of living under free enterprise, now has only these conventional symbols to show him.

But Khrushchev presents his credentials in the world's biggest industrial complex with knowledge that his country has out-techniced an industrial democracy. That is how the world will consider it anyhow.

By emulating Russia's technological developments with our own rocket program, we have handed Khrushchev world propaganda leadership time and again.

Unfortunately, the naive peoples of politically borderline nations such as Cambodia, Algeria or Morocco are more impressed with Russian flash than they are with Western stability.

What they fail to realize is that once Communist, things are anything but flashy.

Russia is employing both dramatic and practical appeal with their moon rockets in the sky and bread in the stomachs of starving peoples.

And the U. S. is playing a rather sorrowful second fiddle in both categories.

It is not for this nation to seek the same path as the Soviets, but to find the tinder and light that means something to the restless world.

Khrushchev, the ruthless dictator, comes to the U. S. as Khrushchev, the master showman. His moon missile planted the Russian flag for all to see.

We must be stern in our discussions and forget about "hail, fellows well met." And we must find new molds in which to press the West's command ahead of the Communist sphere. In truth and in theory, they look down upon us.

Sage Ready To Present Nikita
Khrushchev With Johnson Grass

Dear Editor:
Understand Mr. Khrushchev is on a tight schedule and won't be able to stop by my farm out here, which is perfectly all right, I'm on a tight schedule myself and wouldn't have much time to entertain him anyway.

But what has interested me most about his trip to the United States is the reaction of these big-time columnists who write for the big dailies.

One group is arguing Khrushchev shouldn't have been invited at all, but I don't have much feeling on this point. As far as I'm concerned anybody, including a dictator, is welcome to come over and look us over, so long as he doesn't bring his army with him.

Another group says Khrushchev won't be here long enough to get the feel of America, won't get to know what we think. Some Congressmen have lived here all their lives and every once in a while they prove they don't know what the people think either. They then become ex-Congressmen. I don't know how long Khrushchev would have to stay here to figure us out, but it would be too long, except for the people in the dozen or so countries he has enslaved. As far as they're concerned, he could stay here forever.

Personally, I can't get very excited either way about his visit. I understand he's very interested in studying American farming methods. I am too. I've got one field out here I've been studying for years and never have made up my mind what I ought to do with it. In case Mr. Khrushchev's caravan has a flat while he's on tour and he should get to this vicinity about that time, I'm all set for him. I have a bag of carefully selected Johnson grass seed I want to present him with. If he'll take it home with him and scatter a few seeds around, it'll set Russian agriculture back 50 years.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Capital Report ...

Dogwood Hints
Of Election Jitters

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — "Dogwood time in Texas" could come around Thanksgiving this year.

In years past, the deadline for candidates to file for a place on the Democratic primary ballot was the First Monday in May. Would-be candidates frequently followed an old East Texas tradition of holding off formal announcements "until the dogwood is out." Depending on the season, dogwood blooms in late February to early March, some 2 to 2½ months before the old May filing deadline.

Election law changes passed this year move the filing date up to Feb. 1. If the whole schedule is moved up accordingly, "dogwood time" would be from late November to early December.

Probably, for the first time at least, long habit will cause most candidates to feel this is too early.

Also for the first time in 1960, county officials will face a new fact of life. A constitutional amendment adopted last year bars them from running for another office while holding their present office, if it has more than one year to run.

This means that district judges, district attorneys, county judges, etc., all of whom have four-year terms, can't run for some state office in their "off year." They will have to resign first.

This rule does not apply to state officials holding four or six-year offices.

BATTLE LINES FORMING
However living state policies, they probably will be eclipsed in the coming months by the tremendous interests building up in national party policies.

Focal point of most of the suspense and activity is U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, first Texan since John Nance Garner to be regarded seriously as a potential presidential nominee.

Clubs to support Johnson are already being formed, and Democratic Executive Committee Chairman J. Ed Connally of Abilene has predicted strong unity behind the senator.

But complete unity is unlikely. Liberals are forming a Texas Democrats for Stevenson organization.

First showdown will be at the precinct conventions. They'll be May 7 since the new law moves the date from the last Saturday in July to the first Saturday in

REPORT TO TAXPAYERS

Texas government cost more last year than ever before and will cost even more in the fiscal year that began this month.

But there was a bright spot in State Comptroller Robert Calvert's report. Because of a new book-keeping system enacted by the Legislature, the General Revenue Fund deficit is only $26,571,159 instead of the $67,000,000 that was predicted.

Calverts reported the state spent $1,163,883,060 in the year just ended. This is $140,000,000 more than in the previous year. In the present year spending will be some $50,000,000 higher than in the year just ended.

Rogers Masons
To Commemorate
75th Anniversary

Randall E. Briscoe, Grandmaster of Masons in Texas, will be the featured speaker 8 p.m. Saturday at a 75th anniversary meeting of the Rogers Masonic Lodge No. 602.

A crowd of Masons and Masonic leaders from around Central Texas is expected to attend the program at Rogers High School Football Stadium. In the event of rain the meeting will be held in Rogers High School gymnasium.

A second feature of the program will be a student speaker, yet unannounced from the Masonic home and School, Fort Worth. Refreshments will be served following the program.

The Rogers Lodge received dispensation from the Grand Lodge of Texas Sept. 20, 1884, and has met continuously for the past 75 years, according to Leroy J. Willmann, past master and program chairman.

Present Worshipful Master is Arthur E. Cross, Rogers.

Invitations have gone out to all Masonic Lodges in Central Texas, inviting Masons, their families and friends to attend.

Lodge officials rate the event one of the outstanding Masonic events in Bell County, Willmann said.

Outdoors In Texas:

Lake Turnover Time For Catches?

By Vern Sanford

Hang around a bunch of Texas fishermen long enough and you'll hear them talk about "when the lake turns over."

Invariably they will tell you that the lake turns over in the spring and fall because of changes in air temperature... and corresponding changes in water temperature. "Heat rises, you know, and when the water at the top of the lake becomes colder than the water at the bottom, the layers of water just naturally change positions."

Actually, what happens is not quite as simple as all that. To begin with, there are not always two or more layers of cold and warm water.

In the winter and early spring, water circulates at all levels of the lake. Temperature is the same at nearly all depths. Wind and wave action keep the water moving. This situation continues as long as air temperatures are low and there is a fair amount of wind. The big change begins to occur, usually, in the late spring or early summer.

Actually, there is no "turn-over" of the lake's water. What happens is the formation of an upper layer of warmer water (Epilimnion) and a lower layer (Hypolimnion), divided by a thin layer (Thermocline), in which there is a sharp change of temperature.

As summer heat increases, the Thermocline goes deeper. In other words the top layer of warm water becomes thicker as the sun warms the water to greater depths.

Stagnation occurs in the bottom layer when it loses its oxygen, due to lack of contact with the air. Gases then form, with the decay of fish that die and sink to the bottom.

There being no circulation, these gases remain in the Hypolimnion. By late summer this bottom layer is full of poisonous gases and is almost completely lacking in oxygen. No fish can live there. Hence the fisherman doesn't want to work his bait at the bottom of a very deep lake in late summer.

Sometimes fish do venture into the bottom layer. They will do so only because they are pursuing food, chased by predators; or out of pure obstinacy. When this happens the fish are poisoned by the gas, or suffocate by lack of oxygen, or both. Then they rise to the surface quickly.

Sometimes they are found on or near the top, still fresh, but bloated and with eyes bulging because their swim bladders expanded with the sudden rise.

Fishermen take large numbers of such fish in nets. Usually they declare that their appearance on top was caused by the lake "turning over". But you now know the real reason.

It is also said by those fishing in the late summer or early fall, that an unpleasant odor on the lake is caused by its "turning over". Again, this is not so. The odor comes when gases from the bottom layer are released through the tail races of dams.

At these periods the Epilimnion may extend down to 60 feet. Texas scientists have shown by tests exactly what you would expect.

Safeway Renews 'Cross Out' Game At Cameron Store

"Cross Out" is here again! That's the word from Manager S. D. Ripley of Safeway Stores. "By popular request we are bringing back the fun game of 'Cross Out' for our friends and customers," Ripley said. Since September 14, any adult may pick up a card at our store and be ready to enter the game for $55,000 in prizes. The game will last for eight weeks, with the first key letters for the cards appearing in our ad in The Cameron Herald today.

Nearly a million Texans played "Cross Out" when Safeway first introduced the game through its stores last year. There's nothing to buy, no gimmicks to frustrate. The only qualification necessary is that the player be an adult. A playing card may be obtained merely for the asking at any Safeway store.

A card obtained the first week is not out of date for the second or subsequent weeks. If the first card does not contain a winning combination from the key letters in the Safeway advertisement for September 17 it may be kept and used again the following weeks.

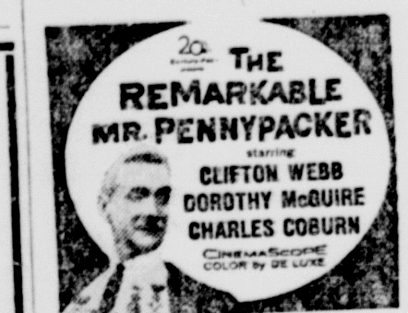

and cards may be obtained each week. Prizes for the winning cards range from RCA Victor Color TV's and Schiaparelli mink stoles to Scheaffer pen and pencil sets and Riviera clutch purses. They are worth from $235 to $435 each.

It's easy to enter the game. Just ask for a card at the Safeway store. Then watch for the key numbers in the Safeway advertisement in the hometown paper—the numbers will be carried only in those ads.

Daniel Yezak accounted for Rockdale's second TD with a run-over from the 4-yard line in the last quarter. Perry intercepted a Carrol Fikes pass two minutes later on the Cameron 38 and ran the ball back all the way for the final Rockdale score, the extra point kick was good, wrapping it up at 21-0.

Sommerville Drops Milano Eagles, 18-12 In Thursday Tilt

Sommerville set back the Milano football team last Thursday night 18-12. The loss was Milano's second in as many games.

The statistics of the game were about even but luck was with Sommerville edging out by one touchdown.

Supt. James Griffin announced a number of schedule changes.

Milano will play the Marlin B team Thursday instead of Rockdale. October 8th they will play Georgetown's B squad instead of another scheduled Rockdale contest.

The Milano Head Coach, Ed Swenson and Griffin reported that the team was steadily improving and was rated 3rd of 4th in the stridi but had hops of turning out to be the conference dark horse.

The team has 18 boys out with 13 or 14 regulars being used.

Seeing a scoreless Cameron Yoemen football team the past two weeks is something new to YHS grid fans.

But according to plans explained by Coach Jim Speer Monday before Cameron Quarterback Club members, a new lineup will break the Yoemen scoring gates.

Speer told quarterbacks that he is shifting Ernest Bayer from fullback to right tackle, a position he excelled at during the 1958 season as a freshman. In the fullback slot, Ed Lierman will take over, moving from lefthalf.

Moving back to lefthalf will be Carrol Fikes, who has been playing quarterback this season, but who showed fine open field running ability last year as a sophomore. And stepping into the quarterback hat - spot young Jimmy Woodum, 135-pound sophomore, who has shown up well in practice session.

VOS

Said Speer: "We're sacrificing power for speed in the backfield and putting Bayer, an 193 pounder, back into the line. Bayer's return to the forward wall will give the Yoemen a rugged 175-pound average line that has lettermen in every slot."

And Speer is putting experienced backs into slots they run in last year.

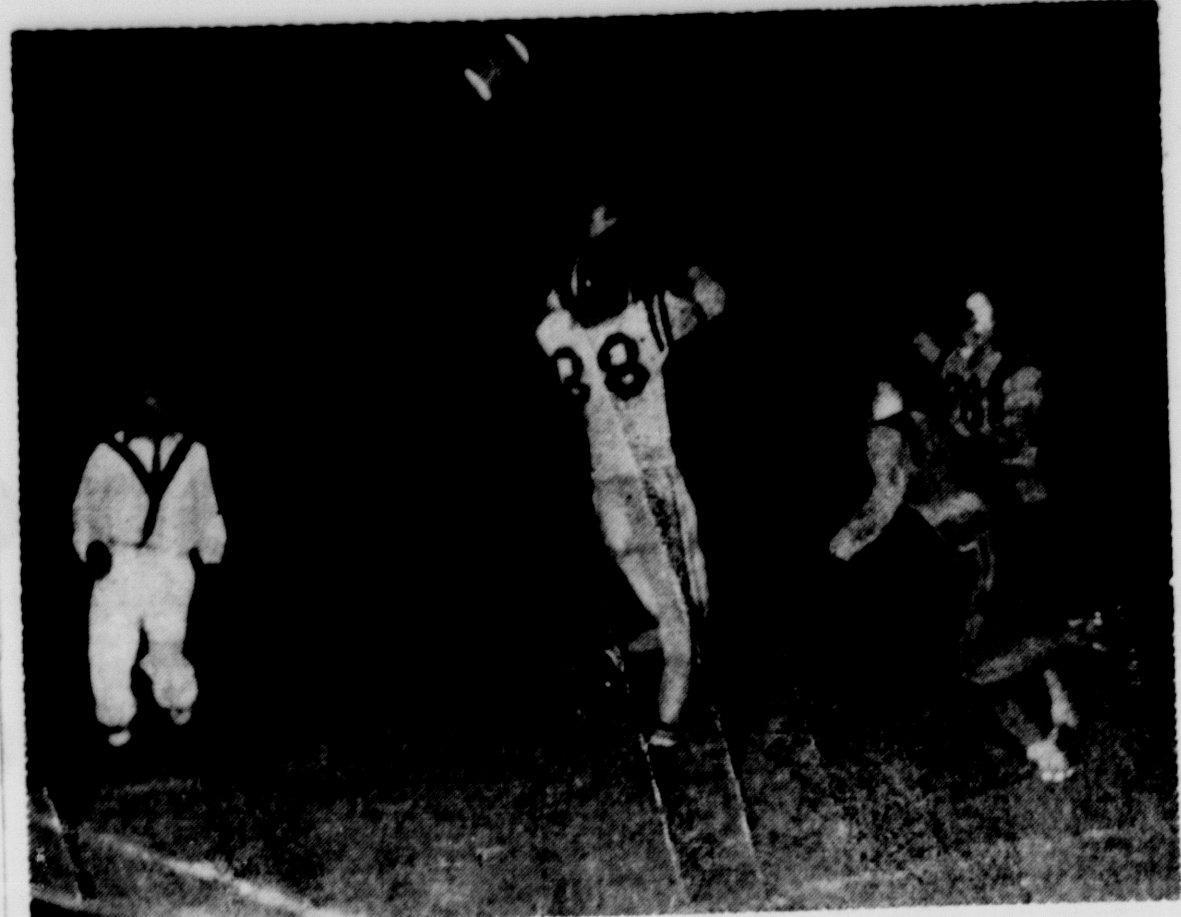

VOS

"With this combination up front, we'll move and we'll score if we are gunt to move at all," Speer told quarterbacks.

The major changeover came after Cameron failed to score in the first games of the year with Rockdale and West, victors over Cameron, 21-0 and 34-0 respectively.

Sophomore Chris Gay gave a good showing at righthalf and will stay in that position for Friday's game with Brenham.

Both Speer and backfield coach Jerry Hopkins said the big problem this season has been filling the quarterback slot. Fikes, rated
